Nigerian Civil War (1967), Delta Unrest (1990 -), Communal Conflicts (1978 -), and Boko Haram Insurgency (2009 -)

Since 1960 when Nigeria became independent, it has seen a number of coup d'états and instability. In 1967, after confederation plans for the Nigerian regions to gain more independence failed, the Eastern region seceded as the Republic of Biafra and this caused the Nigerian Civil War. The conflict resulted from political, economic, ethnic and religious tensions which had existed since before Britain drew new borders when colonising the area. The discovery of oil in the Niger Delta heightened the intensity of the conflict. With the aid of British forces, the Nigerian military managed to take back the territory in 1970. Since then, ethnic violence has persisted.

Nigerian Delta Unrest (1990 -)

Conflict in the Niger Delta arose in the 1990s between foreign oil companies and ethnic groups which felt exploited after being forced to abandon their land. The Nigerian military caused international consternation in 1995 when members of the Ogoni tribe of the Niger Delta were found hanged without due process. The proliferation of arms in the region has encouraged the rise of armed groups which have targeted oil companies and pipelines. This came to a head in 2004 when Shell withdrew personnel from two oil fields in response to attacks on wells and pipelines by rebels. The military have attempted to clamp down on militant groups in the Niger Delta but it was not until the establishment of the Presidential amnesty program in 2009 which required the surrender of weapons by militants in exchange for amnesty. In 2016 a new militant group called the Niger Delta Avengers has announced its existence in the Niger Delta illustrating the continued instability in that region.

Boko Haram Insurgency (2009 -)

Sectarian violence has also been rife in Nigeria and since 2002, the radical Islamist group Boko Haram have been violently seeking to establish sharia law throughout Nigeria and an Islamic caliphate in the Northern part of the country. In 2009 they began an official insurgency which spread to Cameroon, Chad and Niger. In 2014 the group kidnapped 276 girls from a college in Chibok and bombed the town of Jos. The insurgency is the result of Muslim – Christian tensions in the country which is a constant source of instability and violence. In 2015 the military led a regional coalition of forces on a counter-offensive against Boko Haram and they were successful in taking ground. There are also conflicts between Fulani herdsman and Christian peasants in the Middle belt. Widespread corruption and lack of state authority exacerbate these many complex tensions.

Central Nigerian communal conflicts (1978 -)

Unrest in Nigeria is a product of socio-economic pressures between migrating herdsman and settled agriculturists, exacerbated by firearms proliferation, ethnic conflict, sectarianism and banditry. Since 2001, attacks have adopted a more sectarian character involving suicide bombings and shooting at churches by the jihadist group, Boko Haram. Peaks of violence occurred in 2004 and 2011, pastoral/farmer conflict has resulted in the deaths of thousands since the Fourth Nigerian Republic was founded in 1999. The Land Use Act of 1978, exacerbated conflict by allowing longtime occupants 'indigeneship' and the ability to apply for a certificate of occupancy, putting migrating communities at a disadvantage.

We, the parties to this Declaration are: development/cultural associations, Traditional Councils, youth, women, religious and respected opinion leaders and elders brought together by the Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue (HD), with our consent, because of our history of Inter-communal, farmer and grazer and religious violence.

Page 4, Section I, Article ii

Note that the conflicts in Kaduna have nevertheless left their mark on the whole society but specifically affect vulnerable groups including women, children, youths and persons with disability more and stress the need to provide adequate support for them to rebuild their lives.

Page 6, Section II, Article vi

Idle youth: Unemployed youth with easy access to drugs are easily lured into violent acts.

Page 9, Section V, Article v

ii. Inclusion of women and youths, persons with disability in decision- making and peace processes: On many occasions, reconciliation and dialogue efforts exclude meaningful participation of women and youth. This exclusion causes disenchantment and negative perception of the outcomes of reconciliation efforts.

Identify effective strategies and processes to transform youth previously involved in violent behavior.

Page 8, Section V, Article i

The plan will bring on board the joint efforts of all stakeholders including at the State level, traditional and faith based leaders, women and youth that puts in place a tension management mechanism that;

- Creates a linkage between early warning and early response.
- Ensure continuous monitoring of violent conflict situations.
- Intervene in conflict situations and pursue such measures as are necessary to arrest and redress the situation.
- Make appropriate recommendations for action by law enforcement agencies.
- Provide broad civic education on rights, obligations and cohesion as well as religious studies.
- Teach conflict prevention and conflict transformation skills to young people.

Page 9, Section VII, Article ib

Create employment and keep youth out of engaging in conflict by reviving the following industries; flour mills, chalk, Ginger processing, fruit processing, oil processing and Gurara dam to provide electricity and water to communities.

Page 3, Preamble

This Declaration covers content from a multi- ethnic and farmer and grazer context of communities of five Local Government Areas (LGA's) of Southern Kaduna; Sanga, Kachia, Kaura, Zangon Kataf and Jema'a. This Declaration records agreements arrived at as a first step towards achieving lasting peace.

Deeply concerned by continued sporadic armed conflicts and deep hatred between ethnic and religious groups in some parts of Southern Kaduna;

Page 5, Section I, Article v Observe that the five Local Government Areas in Southern Kaduna; Sanga, Kachia, Kaura, Zangon Kataf and Jema'a are divided societies, polarized in some of the most institutionalised structures such as housing areas specific to ethnic groups, Christian and Muslim Schools, ethnic or religious based markets as well as cultural activities, yet many people in the dialogue expressed the wish that this was not so.

Assert that the success of this dialogue will be translated into a common need for an interdependent future, in which all ethnic and religious communities feel that their survival depends on the existence of those they have previously thought of as the "other".

Page 5, Section II, Article ii

The Nigerian Constitution declares the concept of indigeneity, among other reasons, to protect the minority communities against the fear of domination by the larger ethnic communities.

Page 9, Section VII, Article i f

Prioritize economic and social regeneration and investment and enhance opportunities for sharing across ethnic and religious communities: Communities have raised concerns over disparities in the delivery of social and public utility services particularly in areas of high polarization. We recommend a huge change of culture by the State Government of Kaduna within it's departments, agencies and public bodies to serve every community equally and pass the message across that equal treatment directly translates into building blocks for ethnic and religious co- existence.

Page 10, Section VII, Article i g

Explore opportunities for ethnic and religious communities to live in the same residential areas: Current levels of residential segregation make it possible for communities to declare "no go areas" for those considered not their "own" that has resulted in deaths, disappearances or injuries to those from "other" ethnic or religious communities. We encourage the State Government to create a conducive policy environment that will support the adoption of an approach for model inter-ethnic and inter- religious housing.

This Declaration acknowledges that there have been stringent demands by communities in this dialogue that include the need to:
ii. Resettle or compensate Internally Displaced People (IDP's);
iii. Offer reparation to victims and work towards institutional reforms to prevent further violence;
iv. Recognize the history of oppression by some communities against each other with narratives of pain passed on from generation to generation that in turn contributed to violence to the communities perceived as oppressors.

Page 10, Section VII, Article i h
Engender inter-ethnic and inter- religious resettlement of IDP's for cohesion, integration and harmonious co-existence: We commend ongoing efforts to address the plight of IDP's and ensure official resettlement activities or voluntary individual movements to new areas do not divide communities farther along ethnic or religious lines.

We, the parties to this Declaration are: development/cultural associations, Traditional Councils, youth, women, religious and respected opinion leaders and elders brought together by the Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue (HD), with our consent, because of our history of Inter-communal, farmer and grazer and religious violence. Southern Kaduna has had a number of experiences of violent conflict that constitute a major threat to peace and security. Electoral disputes, farmer and grazer differences in particular, have caused violence, deaths, injuries, loss of property, trauma, widows and orphans, poverty and massive displacements. The stakeholders in this Declaration are convinced that a necessary condition for establishing lasting peace in our State is the resort to dialogue to resolve conflicts.

Page 4, Section I, Article ii

Note that the conflicts in Kaduna have nevertheless left their mark on the whole society but specifically affect vulnerable groups including women, children, youths and persons with disability more and stress the need to provide adequate support for them to rebuild their lives.

Create a body to promote peace and reconciliation amongst communities that will:

- Bring perpetrators to justice, inclusive of both indigenes and settlers.
- Consider the compensation of all affected people.
- Address past wrongs drawing on the wisdom and expertise of traditional conflict resolution mechanisms.
- Ensure the inclusion and active participation of women, youths and persons with disability in all peace processes.
- Prevent and protect women against violence.
