Background & Introduction

The Grassroots initiative to promote the National Dialogue in Yei River State in particular and South Sudan in general followed the declaration of the National Dialogue on 14th December 2016 by the President of the Republic of South Sudan H.E. Salva Kiir Mayardit and on the 7th February 2017 when H.E. the President visited Yei River State and declared the National Dialogue at Yei Freedom Square. This declaration was preceded by the State Governor’s call to action of

2. Lack of promotion of Equatorian sons and daughters who joined the SPLA since late 80's and yet their colleagues from other regions enjoy higher ranks.
3. Unfair treatment of Equatorians in the army and regular forces is highly carried out and practiced by the ruling party. For instance, a Dinka army officer could cross to Uganda and spent 2 to 3 days and upon return, no consequences for the act but when it is an Equatorian, the punishment is severe.
4. Land grabbing in Equatorial region created anger.
5. Use of force by the SPLA army for personal gain and the use of the phrase "we liberated Equatorial region".
6. Young ladies who are in schools are taken and married by force and when parents try to intervene, they are jailed, threatened to abide or face death consequences. Typical example was expressed by Col. John 'Data whose sister was married to a Dinka army man. Upon separation, the Dinka man took the children and violently requested back the dowry. The whole village was subjected to return the dowry to the arrogant behavior of the in-law to avoid loss of life.
7. Arbitrary arrest and killing of innocent people like the pastor of Morobo.
8. No Equatorian senior army personnel in the respective areas or local. Offices in area Kaya are led by Dinka and Dinka language is used most of the time in the offices
9. No equal treatment. An Equatorian is regarded a second or third class citizen and or leveled a Ugandan or a Congolese.
10. Destruction of churches, looting of people's properties and particularly removal of iron sheets.
